

Lebanese solar container industry customers

Overview

Here, we'll examine why Lebanon's C&I clients represent the primary target market for a new solar module manufacturer and how to build a strategy to serve them effectively. Between 2021 and early 2023, the country's installed solar capacity surged from 100 MW to nearly 1,000 MW—a tenfold increase driven by urgent necessity. For an entrepreneur considering entry into the solar industry, understanding this dynamic is crucial. Like tens of thousands of Lebanese people, the Mazloums have turned to solar power to generate reliable—and cost-effective—electricity in a country where the crisis-stricken state provides as little as one or two hours of power a day. Faced with chronic shortages from the public supplier Electricité du Liban (EDL), rampant private diesel generator rationing, and high fuel prices and electric bills, Lebanese citizens turned to solar as a flicker of hope amid the darkness. Solar energy is the energy that produced by applying a photoelectric effect-based technique to transform sunlight into electricity. The reference year is a year for which statistics are gathered or assessed and its identified based on the availability of annual reports and statistics.
